

DISASTER RELIEF ASSISTANCE FOR IMMIGRANTS

If you are an undocumented adult living in California who is experiencing hardship because of the COVID-19 pandemic and is not eligible for other forms of assistance (such as the CARES Act stimulus payment or the pandemic unemployment benefits), you may qualify for financial assistance from the State of California's Disaster Relief Assistance for Immigrants (DRAI) Project. This assistance is being distributed by immigrant-serving nonprofit organizations selected by the CA Department of Social Services. Please note that this project is not being administered by the City of Los Angeles.

BENEFIT AMOUNT

An undocumented adult who qualifies can receive a one-time payment of $500 in direct assistance, with a maximum of $1,000 in assistance per household.

REQUIRED INFORMATION

You must provide information and documents to verify your identity, home or mailing address, and show you have been impacted by COVID-19. The organization you contact will provide more information about the application process and the documents required.

IMPORTANT NOTE

This disaster relief assistance is not means-tested and is one-time assistance. The federal government does not list this assistance as a public benefit for public charge consideration. However, USCIS has not issued specific guidance related to this assistance.

If you have specific questions or to find out more information, please consult a legal services provider in the Guide for Immigrant Californians:
